

the fact that the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) has been the most influential journal in the field of medicine in the United States for over 100 years (Roberts, 1999).

There are a number of reasons why the JAMA has been so influential. First, it is the largest medical journal in the United States, with a circulation of over 100,000 copies per week. Second, it is the only medical journal that is published weekly. Third, it is the only medical journal that is published by a non-profit organization. Fourth, it is the only medical journal that is published by a group of physicians.

The JAMA has been so influential because it has been able to maintain a high level of quality and integrity. It has been able to do this by being the only medical journal that is published by a group of physicians. This has allowed it to maintain a high level of quality and integrity, and it has been able to do this for over 100 years.
